CROSS STUDIO

The CROSS STUDIO, previously called +STUDIO, is an opportunity to develop collaborative and cross disciplinary ideas/partnerships in a studio context in the Department of Architecture at MIT. The department will support a select number of CROSS STUDIOS, most likely 2 for the 2020 Spring semester, and provide supplementary funding, approximately 15-18k towards additional studio support for studio travel, materials, or honoraria for visitors, as well as accommodate replacement teaching if necessary for collaborators.

The CROSS STUDIOS draw upon the wealth of knowledge within the department, MIT, and the world, acting as a space to experiment with research and design pedagogy. We will prioritize collaborations within the department, however collaborations across MIT and outside of MIT are also encouraged. Faculty from other departments and outside MIT will need appropriate approval by respective Department or Academic Heads as determined by their unit.

To propose a CROSS STUDIO for the Spring semester, please complete the following:

Faculty Members & Discipline Groups:

1.
2.
3. (Optional)

CROSS STUDIO Title:

CROSS STUDIO Description (max. 250 words + 5-10 images):

CROSS STUDIO Proposed Methodology (max. 250 words):
Describe how you think the collaboration will be beneficial to the studio.

CROSS STUDIO Teaching Schedule: (Any travel must take place during spring break)

CROSS STUDIO Budget Proposal, including any cost sharing: